

Hi Jo

The stable fly issue impacting the Lancelin/Gin Gin area is undoubtedly one of the largest problems facing the community and domestic and commercial animals within that location. I would like to congratulate the Stable Fly Action Group for their consistent and professional pursuit to resolve this problem.

With the stable fly now declared as a pest under the BAM Act, I agree with you that this is a welcome step forward to identifying and addressing breeding areas that exacerbate the problem. The Regulatory Reference Group, along with DAFWA, who I understand are developing a management plan, need to prioritise the stable fly issue within the Department so that on the ground action, including an inspection regimen carried out by appropriate people, is in place before the next breeding season.

I would be more than happy to pursue such an outcome on behalf of the Stable Fly Action Group and the community after the forthcoming State election, so please stay in contact on this matter.

Kind Regards

Jim
